

HAYLING ISLAND CAMERA CLUB - FLICKR

Although anyone can access Flickr, club members can join a group on the site which is accessible to HICC members only.

An account will need to be opened on <http://www.flickr.com/> where there is a link to join and create an account. When you've done this you should go into your profile setting and enter your real name so that Trevor Ager can recognise you and ensure you are a fully paid up member of the Camera Club. There is also the facility to enter any other details you would like to share with fellow Flickr members.

When you have done this go to Trevor's Flickr page at <http://www.flickr.com/photos/trevager/> where you add Trevor as a contact and Friend – you can contact Trevor if you have queries through Flickr mail to 'trevager'. Once Trevor sees you have added him as a contact he will send an invitation to join the Hayling Island Camera Club Imaging Group. On accepting the invitation you can join in the group's activities – easy!

This is an opportunity to upload your images and receive comments from others within the group on your images – perhaps making you look at your images in a different way – you know what they say – many minds . . .!
